On December 9, 1910 D. E. Aubin fish to Portsmouth, where he analyzed of Newburyport shipped a barrel of them and found them infected with claims to his city and Dr. Styles of the bureau of agriculture appears to have chased the shipment of shell

Attorney Ferber presented in case against him for violating the pure food law. Aubin pleaded guilty. In connection with the clam-shipment, testimony before Judge Dodge revealed that 7200 pounds of clams are shipped to Boston annually from beds in the Merrimack river below Newburyport, which have been investigated by government experts and found to be infected with sewage, some of the clams from them containing germs allied to typhoid bacillus.

WISCONSIN'S COMMANDER CONTRIBUTES

Adds His Mite To The Uniform Controversy

Encloses Letter From Girl Ejected From the Moving Picture House

The Herald is in receipt of the following communications:

U. S. S. WISCONSIN
Portsmouth, N. H.
May 11, 1911.

Editor, Portsmouth Herald.
Dear Sir:

The recent instance of discrimination against enlisted men of the United States Navy on account of their uniform, in defiance of the law just passed by the legislature of the state, is, apparently, a matter of interest and concern to all good citizens of Portsmouth. I beg, therefore, that you give space to the enclosed letter, which expresses well another phase of the matter and shows plainly the animus which inspire the discrimination. This letter was received by me on Sunday, the 7th instant. The writer is a young woman of good family, one of which the character and respectability are unquestioned; there can be no question, therefore, as to the reason for her ejection from the dancing hall. Her name is suppressed at her request. The men from the Wisconsin referred to in the young woman's letter are well-behaved and well-disciplined men and there was no complaint whatever as to their demeanor or deportment on Saturday evening. I think that the publication of her letter will aid in the movement to make the uniform respected and not one to be regarded as a lively of shame, the taint of which is communicated to those who associated with its wearers. The letter follows.

Respectfully yours,
R. K. Crank
Lieut. Comdr., U. S. N.

Lieut. Crank,
U. S. S. Wisconsin.

My Dear Sir:

I take the liberty of writing to you regarding the incident, which occurred at Pierce Hall last Saturday evening. The law being passed that men in uniform be allowed to go to public places of amusement, a few of the men in uniform came into the dance hall. There one of them saw a young lady whom he knew and danced with her, after which the young lady introduced him to her friends. Immediately after finishing the dance the young lady was called into the box office and told by the manager to leave the hall. After this, two other young ladies, after dancing with men in uniform were also called into the office and told to leave the hall. These young men in uniform conducted themselves in the most gentlemanly manner and the young ladies belong to most respected families in the city. This is the way which this manager takes to keep the uniform from his place now that the law obliges him to allow the uniform into his dance hall.

Those people who know of this affair declare it an outrage and an insult both to the young ladies and the young men who wear the uniform which every good citizen of our country should respect.

I write this to you because having seen your excellent article in the Portsmouth Herald not long ago, I hoped that you might write another article for the paper. I hope that you will also use your influence with your men and advise them either to shun the place entirely or to make the management treat them as they should be treated.

What is this, the uniform prejudice, or obstinate bigotry? I think this is a matter worth looking into.

Thanking you for your courtesy in this matter and asking you please not to mention my name in connection with it, I am

Respectfully,

OFFICIAL TRAIN SCATTERED BRUSH FIRES BROADCAST

A special passenger train with President Mellen and Vice President Byrnes of the Boston and Maine system made all kinds of trouble for section men along the Portsmouth route of the Portland division on Wednesday.

While running along at a fast clip the locomotive's sparks started no less than ten fires on and off the railroad property between Saco and Wells Depot. As fast as the workmen would extinguish one, another would break out. At one time there were nearly fifty men chasing the fire train between these stations and fighting the flames.

The train made no stop between Portland and this city, therefore none of the train crew had any idea of the hard work the building chatters were causing the several tracks crews along the route. Mr. Mellen and Mr. Byrnes were on their return trip from a meeting of the board of directors of the Maine Central railroad.

GOV. BASS AND COUNCIL HERE

Making Inspection of State Roads—
Meet Board of Public Works in This City.

Governor Robert P. Bass and the members of his Council who are touring the state boulevards, arrived in this city on Wednesday evening and stopped at the Rockingham hotel. At eight o'clock Governor Bass and his Council met the members of the Board of Public Works, Mayor Badger being unable to attend owing to the Council meeting, and they went over the plans for the state road in this city. The paving of Richards avenue, which is a part of the state road was explained and the city's apportion of the Newington line was discussed. The Governor and Council left this morning for Dover and then to North Conway.

ARGUMENT ON PURCHASE OF YOUNG ARMY HORSES

The War department has made a spirited rejoinder to the Comptroller of the Treasury's decision which appears to place restrictions upon the army quartermasters in the purchase of young horses. The question came up on the disallowance of certain payments which had been made by the army officer in charge of the remount station at Fort Reno, Ok., who, under authority of the quartermaster general, started a large farm on the military reservation there with the idea of raising forage for the horses acquired for training for the military service.

The Comptroller held that the law did not permit the use of army appropriations in the purchase of seed and farm implements. It was a part of the plan of economical administration that the remount depots, those now located at Fort Reno and Fort Keogh, Mont., and the one to be established near Front Royal, Va., should have farms to raise forage, which could thus be obtained at considerably less cost to the Government than when the material was purchased under contract. Incidentally, the Comptroller decided that there was no authority to purchase young horses and that the law permitted only acquisition of horses which were in readiness for service in the mounted arms.

In the protest which has been sent to the Treasury Department by the Secretary of War it is asserted that it cost less to purchase the young horses and train them, if forage could be raised, instead of bought by contract, than if older horses were bought. Besides, the young horses are more suitable and last longer and render better service. They distinguished for its beauty and good crease the efficiency of cavalry and field artillery. The Comptroller, on the other hand, insists that the law must be changed, otherwise there will be all sorts of advantages taken of the War department's construction of the existing statutes.

The Comptroller says that if farms may be conducted out of one of the funds appropriated for Army animals it would be possible to build foundries for the manufacture of stoves issued to the military establishment. If the Comptroller refuses to amend his decision the Secretary of War will request Congress to change the law as to permit the quartermasters to buy these young horses, some of which have recently been acquired, of dealers in western and northern New York.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

Richard Carle in Jumping Jupiter. After having delighted Boston for two months with his new mirth provoker "Jumping Jupiter," Richard (Himself) Carle will bring this great success to Portsmouth on May 18. It is several years since the elongated comedian has been in this section but the Boston verdict on "Jumping Jupiter" is sufficient guarantee that it has no superior as a merry entertainment. Mr. Carle candidly states that he has no mission for the elevation of the stage, but he does not believe that a musical comedy can possess distinct merits and artistic elements even if it is intended only for amusement. So he has constructed "Jumping Jupiter" to provide the maximum of gaiety. The music by Karl Hoselna, who wrote "Madame Sherry," is replete with catchy melody. Edna Wallace Hopper is a specially engaged member of an exceptionally strong cast, which includes many other well known names. The production is absolutely new and disdander better service. They distinguished for its beauty and good crease the efficiency of cavalry and field artillery. The Comptroller, on the other hand, insists that the law

Corral, Reyes, De la Barra and Limantour Among Those Who Aspire to the Presidency of Mexico.

Prominent among the men who aspire to succeed Diaz as president of the republic of Mexico are Senor Ramon Corral, General Bernardo Reyes, Francisco de la Barra and Jose Yves Limantour. According to the constitution, resignation is equivalent to political death so far as it affects the succession. The vice president would assume the executive chair, and he in turn would be followed by the minister of foreign affairs. In this case the vice president, Corral, is ill and in Europe. Should Corral still be absent when Diaz gets out the new incumbent would be De la Barra, the minister of foreign affairs, who is the choice of the Insurrectionists. At a popular election to choose Diaz's successor Reyes or Limantour might be successful.

CHINESE LOAN ENDED

Pekin, May 10.—An imperial edict authorizes the conclusion of the Hukwang loan of $30,000,000 for railroad construction in Central China. The loan was signed a year ago this month by groups of financiers representing United States, France, Great Britain and Germany, and the four groups of bankers will participate. Another edict exhorts the viceroys to abolish the production of opium expeditiously. Great Britain having consented, by the Anglo-Chinese agreement to reduce the exportation of Indian opium to China as rapidly as the home growth is exterminated. The anti-opium societies are most active and as the country has been aroused it is believed the Government will succeed in abolishing the production of the poppy within a few years.

The important edicts of yesterday and the one of the day before, which abolished the Grand Council, substituting for it a constitutional cabinet of ten members, indicate that the Government is assuming a responsibility which heretofore has lacked evidences. It is believed that the appointment of Prince Ching as Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs in the new constitutional cabinet is only temporary and that the prince will be superseded as soon as the assembly reconvenes, that body having warred relentlessly against his ancient methods. The administrative regulations now promulgated make the cabinet jointly responsible with the throne to the national assembly. It is believed that the Government has greatly strengthened itself, and it is already showing self-confidence and determination.

Federal commander, General Navarro, who was to have fought to the death, after four hours of fierce fighting Wednesday morning found his position too hot for him and shortly before noon began to withdraw from the city. A force of rebels under command of General Villa was immediately dispatched in pursuit, and the rebel leader, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., moved his headquarters into the fire and shot-swept town. A retrograde movement was also made from the city of Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas Ariz., by the Federals, who are further reported to have suffered heavy losses in an engagement at Saltillo, Coahuila. In the United States Senate Mr. Stone made a vigorous protest Tuesday against our failure to protect our citizens, citing the casualties in the American cities of Douglas and El Paso. Senator Bacon, whose word, as head of the Foreign Affairs Committee, carries great weight, replied that no occasion for intervention meant not only war with Mexico, but the sacrifice of all friendly sentiment toward the United States throughout Latin America. President Taft, in the face of the discouraging reports which continue to pour in from all parts of Mexico, continues to express optimism.

NOTICE

To the Depositors of the Piscataqua Savings Bank, of Portsmouth, N. H.
The law of this state provides that "It shall be the duty of every depositor in any savings bank, and of every shareholder of any building and loan association, to present his book for verification with the books of the bank or association, when notified so to do, at the times fixed by the bank commissioners."
The bank commissioners have selected the period between May 1st and June 1st in this year as the time for such verification. I have been appointed to examine the depositors' books and compare them with the books of the bank, with the object of correcting any errors that may exist, and for that reason I shall be at the Piscataqua Savings Bank between the hours of 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. each day the bank is open during the above named period, unless the work is sooner completed. On Saturdays the bank is opened from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.
You are requested to present your deposit book, or to forward the same by mail or otherwise, to me at the bank at as early a day as convenient, if possible during the first two weeks, and so avoid having a personal request sent to you. The book will be returned to you after comparison with your account as kept by the bank.

TO GET VIGOR The Cream of Health

The value of vigor is inestimable. It is the quality that distinguishes the individual who is fit, from the one who is not. Vigor is the force in a man that makes for success. Without it his chances grow weak. If you would be victorious over circumstances you must be vigorous.

If you would be vigorous, your blood must be free from impurities, your digestive organs and the functions of nutrition must be working naturally and the whole system must be perfectly nourished.

This desirable condition may be brought about by a wise and regular use of Beecham's Pills. On every hand you may observe evidence of the invigorating properties of this long established medicine.

Men and women who formerly suffered from dyspepsia, liver derangement and lack of nerve force may quickly become healthy, active and vigorous if occasionally they take a dose of

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

The Popcorn Man Speaks.

Editor Herald:

Because in response to the newspaper notice of Tuesday 9th, that to the effect that I had been arrested for selling popcorn and peanuts on the streets of this city so many of my friends, white and colored, have been so kind to show their appreciation of me by putting their property and services at my command if they are needed, I deem it fit and proper to thank them publicly for their interest in my welfare, and to make for them my first public utterance concerning the vocation for which I have fitted myself by prosecuting this little vending business on the streets of this city, during vacation months of ten years.

I reached these parts on a Friday in the Spring of 1899. Secured employment and went to work on the Monday morning following my arrival. During that season I worked at various chores, and at every place I found employment my work was highly complimented, and my services were repeatedly sought. The following year 1900, I went into the fruit business at the old Isles of Shoals wharf. When I came back the third Summer expecting to reopen the fruit stand "at the same old place," I was informed that the authorities at the Shoals objected to my presence on the wharf as a fruit seller on the ground that I sold the people so much fruit before they reached the Shoals that they did not spend their money for dinners and luxuries at this famous resort as in former years. I then entered the peanut and popcorn business, and have prosecuted same ever since. I shall leave it to you to decide whether I have made a success of the business or not, by a review of what I have done with the proceeds I have received from my sales. Since I have been in the business, I have put myself through two years of Academic and four years of College work at the Virginia Union University, Richmond, Virginia, finishing with the Bachelor of Arts degree in the Class of 1905. I entered Dartmouth College and finished the department of Liberal Arts, with the degree Bachelor of Arts, in the Class of 1906. I finished all of my resident work with the Class of 1907, in the Ames Tuck school of Administration and Finance, an affiliated Higher Commercial department of the Dartmouth group of graduate schools, and shall be eligible for the Master of Commercial Science degree upon the submission of a thesis upon which I am now working. The years 1908 and 1909, I worked as an apprentice in the several departments of the Seacoast Mills of Fall River, Mass., during the day, and as a student of the Bradford-Durfee Textile School of the same city at night. In the Spring of 1910, I presented to a representative body of business and professional men of my race, at Hotel Mt. Vernon Norfolk, Va., a proposition to enter the cotton manufacturing business by the formation of a corporation to erect a 10,000 spindle cotton mill with a capitalization of $250,000. The proposition was favorably received, and accepted. The committee which the delegation appointed to confer with me concerning the successful launching of the enterprise was instructed to induce me to materially reduce the capitalization figures, if possible, because it was feared that the stocks of a proposition involving more than $100,000 or at the most $125,000, could not be floated. Knowing as I did that a 10,000 spindle mill was the unit size of cotton textile manufactory today, and therefore, a smaller plant was but an invitation to sink an $100,000 in an industry which could not pay dividends, I refused to accept their offer to compromise in regard to capitalization I could not do so conscientiously. Being without other support, I felt that I was doing an honorable thing to further condescend to push my peanut and popcorn cart while I solve the problem of entering upon my larger duties.

Concerning the arrest may I say that I was carrying out my specific instructions, as to the manner of selling and exposing my goods, both in letter and spirit. I was arraigned on an ordinance which to my knowledge has not been enforced during the years I have been doing business on your streets, and concerning which I had not been previously warned not to break. I am still doing business on your streets, obeying all the laws, ordinances and police instructions I know anything about.

Again thanking you for your manifest interest in my welfare which has been shown through your inquiries, and offered services in response to the newspaper accounts of my arrests, I beg to remain yours,

Can't Get Away From It

Is it possible to nourish, strengthen and Rebuild the Brain by Food?

Every man who thinks uses up part of the brain each day. Why doesn't it all disappear and leave an empty skull in say a month of brain work? Because the man rebuilds each day.

If he builds a little less than he destroys, brain fog and nervous prostration result sure. If he builds back a little more each day, the brain grows stronger and more capable. That also is sure. Where does man get the material to rebuild his brain? Is it from air, sky or the Arctic sea? When you come to think about it, the rebuilding material must be in the food and drink.

That also is sure.

Are the brain rebuilding materials found in all foods? In a good variety but not in suitable proportion in all.

To illustrate: we know bones are made largely of lime and magnesia taken from food, therefore to make healthy bone structure we must have food containing these things. We would hardly feed only sugar and fat to make healthy bone structure in a growing child.

Likewise if we would feed in a skillful manner to insure getting what the brain requires for strength and rebuilding, we must first know what the brain is composed of and then select some article or articles (there are more than one) that contain these elements.

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, Geoghegan, shows of mineral salts, Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash) 2.19 per cent of the total, 5.33 of all mineral salts.

This is over one-half.

Beaunis, another authority, shows "Phosphoric Acid combined" and Potash 73.44 per cent from a total of 101.07.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows: Potassium and Phosphorus (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt. Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetable fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain fog because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which nature demands for brain-building.

Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment.

A peaceful and evenly poised mind is necessary to good digestion.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, etc., etc., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Ptyalin, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore, the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with digestion.

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumen and water.

Grape-Nuts contain that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

And asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain—and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required. Brain rebuilding material is certainly found in

New Castle, May 11.

With weather conditions that for these latitudes and this season of the year well nigh ideal gaily do we go forth to enjoy the beautiful month. Although we may have intermittent attacks of spring fever which is a disease of many symptoms it makes people irritable. It makes them dislike work and long for outdoors. It makes them sentimental; young people fall in love; it makes general havoc—and yet in spite of it all spring is the time of the year that everybody loves best; poets, children, sober-headed men and women. There are no emotions sweeter than those which are proceeded by the sudden dawning of the spring in sky and tree and in the morning the first sound of the returned birds.

THINK EXETER LINE WILL NOT BE DISCONTINUED

The citizens of towns along the electric line between Exeter and Portsmouth are not so much alarmed at the uncertain outcome of the trouble now pending in regard to the discontinuance of the line. There will probably be another hearing here next week, but as the attorney general previously asserted there that the matter was out of the jurisdiction of the court, it is thought by the public that the line will continue, at least during the summer months.

The most disgruntled patrons of electric roads are the citizens of Hampton, who do not like the manner in which the affairs are concerned, the extra fare, not agreeing with them in the least. This extra fare has been collected for over a year, and it was hoped by them that President Hollis would see fit to discontinue it this year.

There are many people who would like to have the Boston and Maine railroad purchase both the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury and the Exeter and Portsmouth.

NOTICE

To the Depositors of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, of Portsmouth, N. H.

The law of this state provides that, "It shall be the duty of every depositor in any savings bank, and of every shareholder of any building and loan association, to present his book for verification with the books of the bank or association, when notified so to do, at the times fixed by the bank commissioners."

The bank commissioners have selected the period between May 1 and May 31 in this year as the time for such verification. I have been appointed to examine the depositors' books and compare them with the books of the bank, with the object of correcting any errors that may exist, and for that purpose I shall be at the Portsmouth Savings Bank in regular business hours each day the bank is open during the above named period, unless the work is sooner completed.

You are requested to present your deposit book, or to forward the same by mail or otherwise, to me at the bank at as early a day as convenient, if possible during the first two weeks, and so avoid having a personal request sent to you. The book will be immediately returned to you after comparison with your account as kept by the bank.

THE BLUE JACKETS

Too strenuous means can not be taken to bring to a head the matter of providing in this city recreation quarters for the use of enlisted men from the navy yard. The fair name of the place is suffering daily through the inhospitable attitude taken by certain proprietors of amusement places with regard to the admission of uniform men.

Public spirited men of the city, who entertain the most friendly feeling towards the visiting jacksies and who in doing so represent the sentiment of the community as a whole, are working under a heavy handicap through having first to overcome the subtle, pestilential taint of animosity which has crept abroad as a result of the unbusinesslike, unprofessional and unpatriotic stand of a scattering handful. Deplorable it is that such a few should be able to wreak such mischief.

We are not making a mountain of a molehill. Portsmouth's prestige as a seaport, her prosperity as a community, her prospects as the coming naval station of the north, all hinge in no little measure upon her treatment of enlisted men. Elsewhere this statement would be rightly laughed at as absurd. In our case, however, assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop has told us with no mincing of words that it is not a matter to pass by lightly.

Portsmouth is comparatively too small a community to utterly disregard the likes and dislikes of so strong a pillar in her social structure as are Uncle Sam's enlisted men; or more properly, that which they represent. If the passing of the anti-discrimination law has not proved a solution of the problem the city fathers must thrash it out among themselves. Let it be thrashed out, by all means, before Portsmouth acquires from afar an unsavory reputation as a city of inhospitality.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Honor For a Glinger.

The selection of Senator Glinger of New Hampshire to be president of the senate pro tem to succeed Senator Frye, resigned, is a tribute to an experienced public servant. There is no reason for factional or party division over the office, as the president does not have the power to affect policies of the senate, but merely observes well established rules. His discretion, however, may often facilitate legislation.

Senator Glinger recently completed 20 years of service in the upper branch, and previous to that time had been in the house. Before he went to congress he was a prominent member of the New Hampshire legislature. He has not been as progressive in his views on public matters as some of his colleagues, but he always has been regarded as an honest, efficient and tactful public servant, and undoubtedly will serve the senate impartially.—Boston Globe

The B. & M. Dividend.

The reduction of dividend on Boston & Maine common from 6 per cent. to 4 per cent. was not unexpected. It requires no occult explanation to the effect that the government needs a warning that the railroads cannot be pushed too far. The simple fact is that the change should have been made long ago. For years the road has been skinned for dividends. Influential stockholders have succeeded in deferring reduction, and as a consequence the road has run down badly. High dividends have meant a low maintenance rate. Wages have increased, and the Mellon system involves large expenditures in betterments.

The Boston & Maine is now, happily, entering on an era of reconstruction. With this process is completed, the road may be expected to pay good dividends once more. In its present condition it cannot be operated with genuine economy. The estimate has been made that with $30,000,000 expended in renovations the property could earn 8 per cent on the volume of business to be reasonably expected. The final outcome of the change just announced will undoubtedly be a vastly more efficient Boston & Maine system. Whether the New Haven itself will have to go through a similar system. Whether the New Haven is one of the speculative questions of the near future.—Boston Herald.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorder is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Charles E. Oliver, 45 Coffin Alley, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Standing for hours brought a constant strain on my kidneys and I finally began to have kidney complaint. My back was so lame at times that I could hardly attend to my work and I was also troubled by headaches and spells of dizziness. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began their use, following the directions closely. The pains in my back and other symptoms of kidney complaint soon left me and I felt much better in every way. The cure has since proven to be a permanent one and I, therefore, advise anyone suffering from disordered kidneys to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

A TIMELY TOPIC

FROM REV. HERBERT S. JOHNSON, Of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church, Boston.

Don't Judge All By One

THE true Christian man would as soon think of using his father's coffin for kindling wood as he would of making money out of the book of Christ's religion. The man who makes such use of the Bible and religion has plainly something wrong with his character. I would not deal with a man of bad character for fear he would rob me of my money. There is absolutely no excuse for those who lost money through the evangelist broker.

The worst result of this so called religious embezzlement is not the financial loss, but the moral effect on the community. First, it causes a general lowering of faith in human nature. Secondly, it brings into disrepute the Christian religion.

People are practical in their judgment of religion. If they try a washing machine, a carpet sweeper, or anything, and find it does not work, men throw them aside. In the life of the embezzler religion apparently does not work. Many misguided people cast religion aside.

The fact that the evangelist broker's religion is apparently a failure, morally and financially, will cause hundreds of young people in New England who have felt some religious emotions to drop further consideration of their personal relation with God, men of easy conscience are seeking for a excuse to escape from responsibility to God. The latest alleged example of the religious embezzler will furnish to many the excuse they need.

The community must not forget, however, that for every faithless one there is a hundred of the faithful.

MYSTERY IN BODY FOUND AT NEWFIELDS

Charles Griffin, aged 44 years, was found dead Wednesday evening in the barn of Mrs. James H. Hayden at Newfields. The body was discovered by Forest Hayden, her son, who went into the barn to get a bicycle. No body had been living on the premises and the barn had been locked for the past week.

Hayden was surprised to see a pool of blood on the floor which had evidently dropped down from the scaffold above. Upon going upstairs he found the body, the head buried in the hay mow in a badly decomposed state, the face blackened and the body bloated and swollen.

Town authorities were notified and Medical Referee Dr. J. G. W. Knowlton of Exeter was called. He stated that the body must have been there three days. As to how death was caused, he has not yet given his decision. It is considered probable that Griffin went into the barn to sleep and was taken ill. Charles Quinn, a neighbor, locked the barn door last week, when Wilbur Hayden, who had been living in the house, was taken to the Exeter Cottage hospital, and seeing Griffin in the barn, told him he must leave.

Pull Together

Discussion in a town makes the grass grow in the streets. Unity makes the trade grow in the stores. Other things being equal, a city is usually as big as the faith of its people.

If they believe in it enough to sink all differences and pull together, you can bet dollars to doughnuts that town is on the up grade.

When all the merchants unite for the good of their burg it is a safe gamble that home trade will unite itself to them.

It is better to have the long green in the tills than the grass green in the streets.

Unity makes the long green grow.

The town that does not pull together will be pulled to pieces.

MERCHANTS GET SIDEWALK SPACE

Council Grants Petition to Display Goods---City Auditor Under Fire---Picture House Managers Ordered Before Council.

The Mayor and Council held a long meeting on Wednesday evening, and got away with much business and considerable discussion on some of the matters, especially the objections of the auditor to pay bills ordered paid by the Council. Although the meeting opened at eight o'clock, it was 10.40 before it was over and adjournment was taken until Tuesday, May 16.

The principal business was the favorable action towards the petition of the merchants to have two feet of the sidewalk allowed them to display goods. This was an amendment to the Ordinance which passed its first reading at the last session and was referred to the committee on second reading. Councilman Hislop for that committee reported favorable on the amendment. Councilman Sugden moved that it be indefinitely postponed, but his motion was not seconded. Councilman Leary favored the amendment and after Solicitor Emery had in response to an inquiry of Councilman Parsons, stated that the Council had the right, that it was a valid exercise of their police power the amendment was passed on a yeas and nays vote. Councilman Sugden alone voting in the negative.

Another matter of unfinished business was the petition of N. Blankenberg for a pawn broker's license. The Council had previously voted a hearing at a previous meeting which was not held. Attorney E. L. Gupit appeared for the petitioner and stated that in addition to the recommendations that had presented as to Mr. Blankenberg's good character, he had personally made an investigation and found that he was a reputable citizen of Nashua with a good reputation for honesty. He had never been in business here, his brother had and had sold out to Silverman.

City Solicitor Emery appeared and stated that had no objection to the man and the police did not, but the police did have an objection to the general principal of allowing more pawn brokers to do business. Councilman Leary opposed the petition and Councilman Hislop favored it. Attorney Gupit was given the floor and he claimed that the Solicitor had raised a moral question which was inconsistent with the action of the Council in granting right and left license for junk dealers, when everybody knew who had anything to do with the enforcement of the laws, that these people give the police more trouble than pawn brokers. That they bought from boys and everybody, goods that was stolen and shipped to Boston. They were without regulations where the pawnbrokers were and had to keep records open to the police.

On motion of Councilman Hislop the petition was granted.

City Auditor Under Fire.

The resolution regarding the rights of the City Auditor to hold up the police pay roll and only allow monthly payments was taken from the table.

and Another Prior was present and was invited by the Mayor to explain why he refused to approve the police pay roll for semi-monthly payments as they had been for the past sixteen years up to the first of January.

Mr. Prior simply stated that the charter stated that the police shall be paid monthly and he had decided to see that they should. Councilman Leary inquired the Auditor would refuse to approve the pay roll if the Council ordered him to. Mr. Prior in answer said that he could not see any reason to change the custom.

Councilman Hislop was of the opinion that it was nothing personal with him. He did not feel as though the Council should order the Auditor to do anything that was a violation of his oath.

City Solicitor Emery in addition to his opinion expressed at the last meeting that there was no legal objection to the police being paid twice a month as had been the custom, real citations of decisions rendered by the higher courts upholding his argument, and claimed that the Council were within their rights in ordering the Auditor to approve the bill and if he refused then he should be removed from office for refusing to obey the laws of the Council.

The Resolution Was Passed.

Councilman Leary said he did not see what good that an order did, for the Council had ordered the Auditor to pay the bill of his for groceries sold to the poor department, but that the Auditor had refused to approve the bill. He asked Mr. Prior several questions as to bills paid former councilmen, citing the cases of two former councilmen who had bills in for insurance and were paid. The Auditor replied that the insurance rates were fixed by law and the bills would be the same if asked for. The Auditor's approving the bill for the plans for the new city hall, after the committee had exceeded their appropriation was also brought up by Mr. Leary who sought to show that it was personal spite on the part of the Auditor. Solicitor Emery was brought in to the matter and said that Councilman Leary could sue the city and recover and at this time he took occasion to state that the trouble was that the Auditor took too much on small matters that brought the city nothing.

Mayor Badger ruled that the Council had done all they could in the matter and it was dropped.

The recent act passed by the legislature granting the city a charter to build a bridge across the Piscataqua was made a part of the records.

A resolution favoring the preservation of the old ship Portsmouth as a station ship here, and forwarding copies to the Senators and Congressmen of this state was passed.

Resolutions.

Councilman Littlefield offered a resolution authorizing needed repairs to the chemical fire station and the Central fire station and for the removal of ashes from city hall and it was passed.

Councilman Clarke offered a resolution authorizing the grading and seeding down of the grounds about city hall.

Inspector of Wires Report.

Councilman Leary offered the report of the Inspector of Wires on the March bill of the Rockingham Light and Power company for street lights. In this bill the Inspector criticised the company and claimed that had the lights been changed on schedule time as he thought they could have, the city would have saved $108.95. Mr. Whitaker the Superintendent of the company was present and took objection to the statement of the Inspector. He claimed that they had made the changes as soon as possible after Feb. 11 and to have completed them by March was impossible. They did not know what kinds of lamps were wanted until Feb. 11 and it required time to order equipment and they were willing to leave it to any expert that they had done the work in a reasonable time. The resolution passed by the Council March 11, did not effect the March bill nor did the agreement made between the company and the Mayor regarding the prices that should be paid pending the changes.

Councilman Hislop seconded Mr. Whitaker and thought that they had done as well as possible. On motion the bill was finally ordered paid according to the agreement between Mr. Whitaker and the Mayor.

Councilman Parsons offered the usual tax discount resolution and to this was attached an order that the Collector should proceed to collect personal and poll taxes after the first day of July by law. This was passed.

Councilman Hammond offered a resolution transferring the sum of $200 to the Sealer of Weights and Measures to pay for carriage hire and extra equipment, was indefinitely postponed by a unanimous vote.

Councilman Sugden offered a resolution asking for the opinion of the City Solicitor as to the proper fees which the Sealer of Weights and Measures should charge.

Theatre Management to Have Hearing. Councilman Sugden offered a resolution to the effect that whereas it had been publicly alleged that thirteen enlisted men had been refused admission to the Premier Seaside theatre in violation of the law recently passed by the legislature that the proprietors, Messrs Gray and McDonough be ordered to appear before the Council, Tuesday evening, May 16, and show cause why their license should not be revoked.

Councilman Herick objected to the wording of the resolution on the ground that the men were not refused admission to the Theatre but to the dance floor. They had been told they could purchase tickets for the gallery.

Councilman Sugden said that the wording of the resolution did not make any difference it was simple a hearing by the Council when both sides of the case could be shown. Possible Messrs Gray and McDonough might have good cause for refusing to allow the men into the dance hall, he simply wanted to know the full facts. The resolution was then passed.

Routine Business.

The other routine business included the report of the City Auditor of bills amounting to $729.62 which were ordered paid and the pay roll for June approved and the Mayor authorized to draw his warrants for the same.

Petitions.

Charles Gooche was granted a license to maintain a pool room at 22 Daniel street.

John P. Holman was granted permission to deal in gasoline.

Fred L. Wood was granted permission to open Islington street to connect a sewer and Frank Lateo on Market street. Andrew Langdon on Sherburne avenue, E. S. Randall on New Castle avenue were granted similar permits.

The petition of Mr. P. Nichols for a permit to erect a hitching post in the curbing on Fleet street brought up the old question of the authority of the Council and the Board of Public Works. The Mayor stated that there was duplicate work, that the Board of Public Works granted petitions the same as the Council. City Solicitor Emery maintained that they had not such right, that rested alone with the Council under the statutes of police powers. They could, however, designate certain things to the board but as he understood it they were simply agents. The petition was finally referred to the Board of Public Works to report.

The petition of Hodgdon Bros. for permission to encumber Pleasant street for building purposes was granted.

The petition of the Rockingham Light and Power company for pole locations on Chapel, Sheafe, Court and Water streets were referred to the Inspector of Wires.

A petition of the New England Telephone company for pole location on Barbary lane opposed by the Inspector was passed.

EX-GOVERNOR ROLLINS HAD CLOSE CALL

Last Sunday Frank W. Rollins was viewing the firewreck area in the vicinity of the Passaconaway club house at Concord in his motor car when he had a narrow escape from death or at least serious injury. Wishing to get directly into the heart of the burnt area Mr. Rollins took the old Squamook river road which turns off from the main traveled Pembroke road in front of the residence of W. J. Simpson at the top of Black Hill.

He had proceeded along the road passed the Passaconaway club when he ran on the approach to a bridge. Glancing ahead he saw the bridge was gone and immediately shut off the power in time to avoid a plunge over the bank into the river, which must have inevitably come had the accident occurred at night. Mr. Rollins was unable to find any sort of instruction or notice that the bridge was gone.

The highway commissioner, Alfred E. Clarke, investigated the matter Wednesday and found that the sign reading "Squamook river bridge gone," which was formerly posted at the junction of the river road and the main highway had been stolen or lost and that the barrier of bars which has heretofore obstructed the road on this side of the approach to the bridge had been torn away, either by parties lighting fires or by the high water. The barrier is to be replaced immediately, and also the sign at the junction of the river and main roads, and this will eliminate all further chance of accident.

It is interesting to note that the bridge was carried away by ice and high water more than twelve years ago and through the action of the town of Pembroke in refusing to meet its share of the cost of reconstruction the bridge has never been rebuilt. The highway commissioner estimates that the work of replacing the bridge would involve an expense to the two places of approximately $500.

A WARNING FROM BOSTON

The navy department is again at odds with municipal authorities of Portsmouth, N. H., where sailors of the Marietta were lately refused admission to a theatre. If Portsmouth continues inhospitable, the department may retaliate on "Portsmouth navy yard," which is in Kittery, Me.—Boston Record.

The sailors are welcomed to the theatre—they were refused admission to a ten cent dance hall. Portsmouth is not antagonistic to the jacks.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

Buffalo Bill.

After nearly half a century of public service, first in the actual scenes of frontier life in which his dash and daring gained him fame and after its passing depicting the heroic scenes now relegated to history and collecting a Congress of Roughriders of the World, Col. Cody on his farewell visit adds to his entertainment scenes from the Orient by adding Pawnee Bill's Par East. It is true that the American Indian's history and origin is shrouded in the midst of unrecorded ages, but it is a sad fact that as a race he was disappearing in as equally a misty future until Col. Cody decided to make his personality and characteristics known not only to his native land but to the most distant parts of Europe. In doing this he has assisted the historian, the writer, the painter, the sculptor, the romancer, and the working people of the world the story of his conquest of a people in the white man's absorption of a continent. In this he has contributed to all the arts preservative. Were it not for Col. Cody's repeated tours this would not have been possible through any other medium, and for this he should be greatly remembered and proper tribute paid to him on his farewell.

Beyond the American Indian he made us acquainted with that greatest of horsemen, the American cowboy and his equine antagonist, the wild horse of the plains. Extending his school to cover the horsemen of the world he has brought to the untamed spectator specimens of every known race and nation who had special experts in the line of horsemanship, notably the Russian Cossack, the South American Gauchos, the Hungarian Chiks, cavalry of our own and other nations to add to the interest of the story of American life which he produced in effective dynamic form.

His name will be long remembered, but it is a happy incident that only lately one monument, to which will soon be added another will be connected with his memory far into the distant future. One is his interest in etroit, May 11—Will the crack eastern teams stop the fast going Tigers, who with a voracious appetite have been gobbling up game after game from the three western cities?

The easterners think that something must be done, and that right soon, to bridle and control the team that Hughie Jennings has whipped into condition once more after a slight lapse for a year. The winners of the American league pennant in 1907, 1908 and 1909 have been playing great baseball as compared with the St.

Louis, Cleveland and Chicago teams, but there is some reason for the opinion that the opposition has been too strong and that a different story may be told after the Yankees, the Athletics, the Red Sox and the Washington Senators beard the Tigers in their own lair.

While a few members of the New York club are not in the best of shape, the team is strong enough to make it very interesting for the Tigers. Chase has a powerful pitching staff, which may prove a stumbling block to the Detroit sluggers. Quinn is in fine form, and Russell Ford seems to be better than ever.

Jim Vaughn, who was very effective against the Tigers last season, has recovered from his recent illness and may whirl one game.

Illustration shows spirited play in recent New York-Boston game. Hal Chase of Yankees with ball. Tom Witter of Red Sox tripping over the development of the West, resulting in his being a factor in the erection of the highest dam in the world, the Shoshone Dam in the Big Horn Basin, near Cody, Wyo., and was instrumental in launching the movement initiated by the Hon. Rodman Wauwataker to build a companion monumental state to the Goddess of Liberty in New York Harbor to typify the personality of the American Indian. His work has lately been endorsed by the Congress of the United States.

This final appearance of Col. Cody, and the grand program of human interest as regards the world's congress of peoples, the scenes of Western and Eastern life, and the magnificent exhibition of horsemanship incidental to the stories depicted elevates the occasion to an event that should interest both old and young.

On making his regretful farewell patrons will wish him long life and now it goes without saying that his prosperity in his retirement.

The World in Boston.

An extraordinary success has attended "The World in Boston" the great missionary exposition now running in Mechanics Building, Boston. The crowd of visitors has ranged from 12,000 on Mondays to 33,000 on Saturdays. It has been found that most of these people visit the Exposition a second time, so that the final week will probably break all records. There has been a series of special days, such as Fisk University Day, Massachusetts Day, Rhode Island Day, Episcopalian Day, Hampden County Day, and Foreign Mission Day, on which special speakers and special demonstrations added to the interest of the regular programs.

More of these special occasions are scheduled for the remainder of the Exposition, including Hartford Day, Canadian Day, Presbyterian Day, and Young People's Societies Day.

After the first few afternoons and evenings of "The World in Boston" the stewards began to feel familiar with their courts and scenes, and the organizations began to run smoothly. This has allowed the stewards of different exhibits to arrange little extra demonstrations of special interests. For example, on May 5th, the fifth day of the fifth month, festival day in Japan, a celebration was held by the Japanese stewards. Kites and paper fishes were flown from the top of the building, presenting a gay appearance to the passerby, and jujitsu and Japanese games were presented in the Japan scene. On another occasion the China stewards gave themselves a dinner, at which they consumed chop-suey, sharks' fins, and other peculiar delicacies, using chop sticks. The public was invited to watch them eat.

Now models have been received from time to time, illustrating the work of foreign missions in India and other countries.

The speakers in the different sections are drawing larger crowds around them each day, and the visitors are taking in great earnest the signs hung around, which read, "Ask questions."

All sorts and conditions of people, not merely church members, are visiting the Exposition daily. Their faces as they wander from booth to booth, or linger at some demonstration, are seldom filled with anything but involuntary interest. Business men have noted with surprise and amazement the millions of dollars spent annually for missions, have had presented before their eyes demonstrations of how their money is spent, have been able to talk at leisure with the men and women who spend the money, and have had ample occasion to see the habits and life of those upon whom the money is being spent. These the Exposition is accomplishing what is planned to do, to convince the many who were sceptical about the power and careful organization of the missionary movement, and to awaken inspiration towards missionary endeavor.

DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR, ITCHING SCALP QUICKLY STOPPED

A Harmless, Old Fashioned Remedy Brings Back the Color To Gray Hair

How many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old-time, tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy nothing equals our grandmothers' "sage tea." Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays, when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. Druggists are authorized to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. "Special Agent, G. E. Philbrick, 45 Congress street."

GAS Is Coal With The Trouble Taken Out

GAS is really nothing more than coal, only with gas you have the coal less the dirt, ashes and smoke. These have been taken out by the gas company, the weight too, has been taken out, for when you use gas you don't have to carry it up from the cellar in buckets, straining your back in your attempt to do so; all of the drudgery has been removed. The Gas Company has taken everything out of the coal but the heat and that's the one thing you want; this they deliver to you right to the burner of the gas range. You only have to turn a valve and strike a match in order to have it.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Completely Crushed.

"How will you want your hair cut, sir?" said the talkative hairdresser to the man in the chair.
"Minus conversational prolixity," replied the patient.
"How's that, sir?"
"With abbreviated or totally eliminated narrations."
"I—o—don't quite catch your meaning, sir."
"With quiescent mandibulars."
"Which?"
"Without effervescent verbosity."
"Sir?"
"Let diminutive colloquy be conspicuous by its absence."
The hairdresser scratched his head thoughtfully for a second and then went over to the proprietor of the shop with the whispered remark:
"I don't know whether the gentleman in my chair is mad or is a foreigner, but I can't find out what he wants."
The proprietor went to the waiting customer and said politely:
"My man doesn't seem to understand you, sir. How would you like your hair cut?"
"In silence."
The proprietor gave a withering look at his journeyman, while the latter began work and felt so utterly crushed that he never again asked his patient if he'd buy a bottle of hair restorer.—San Francisco Star.

SEARCHLIGHT RAYS.

The Effect When the Beams Penetrate a Foggy Atmosphere.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the beam of a searchlight and knows why the beam is visible, while light itself cannot be seen unless it strikes the eye, its visibility being due to particles in the air which really do reflect the light to the eye. On a foggy night, if one will notice, the beam seems to come abruptly to an end if the light is pointed upward. It does this instead of gradually fading away into nothing, as it does pointed horizontally on a uniformly foggy night.
The thing is rather puzzling to one first seeing it, but the reason is not far to seek. Where the end of the beam seems to be there is the place the fog ends, for the beam cannot be visible to us unless there are small particles in its path. This is of great help to sailors in judging of the state of the weather, for they can tell exactly how thick the fog is, or, rather, how deep it is. They can also tell by throwing the light horizontally whether the fog is universal or occurring only in patches, for if extending to a great distance the beam gradually gets dimmer and dimmer, but if in patches the beam is lighter in patches, and if it goes through a place with no fog at all that part of the beam is black or invisible.—New York Tribune.

COFFEE AND TEA.

The Bean Improves With Age. While the Leaf Deteriorates.

Coffee beans improve with age. Five year old coffee is better than the new crop and fetches a higher price in the market. In two years coffee will lose 10 per cent in weight, but it will increase more than 10 per cent in price. Coffee should be used quickly after roasting. If the brown beans appear, only the oil should be dried off in a quick, hot oven; otherwise it will undergo a chemical change which will affect the flavor.

While coffee beans dry with age, teas absorb moisture even when in lined chests. Tea likewise deteriorates with age. It doesn't lose strength so much as it does its drawing quality, which is another name for flavor or bouquet. So careful are the tea packers to insure an entire absence of moisture from the tea when being placed in the zinc or lead lined chests that they have the tea leaves sun dried and then heated before packing. The tea goes into the chests too hot to handle with bare hands and is sealed up in air tight packages before it has time to cool and before the slightest suggestion of moisture reaches it.—New York World.

A Word For Sugar.

Pure candy is good for children. Pure sugar is good for grown people. Of course there are exceptions to every rule. If the doctor prescribes a diet and orders a patient to refrain from sweets the patient is bound to obey his adviser. What is the use of eating a physician and paying him for suggestions if the latter are treated with indifference? People in ordinary health need not be afraid to gratify an appetite which craves sweets. Those who have looked into the matter have been telling us lately that soldiers on the march hold out better if they have rations of sugar than if their food consists of this useful commodity. A fondness for sugar is often a defense against the temptation to use alcoholic stimulants. The inebriate does not care very much about pure sweets.—Christian Herald.

The Age of Lincen.

It is highly probable that the manna feature of Lincen is of greater antiquity than that of silk. Archaeologists generally admit that the mummy cloth of the most ancient dynasties was a variety of finest linen. The Egyptian and Jewish priests wore it at all their ceremonies. We find mention of fine linens all through the Old and New Testaments. When the queen of Sheba visited Solomon she was habited in linen. In Revelation the angels are clothed in "pure and white linen." Genesis tells us that Pharaoh arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen. Silk is mentioned in the Bible only four times.

The Mystic Seven.

A certain fond father sent his son to the University of Pennsylvania last fall. As a farewell piece of advice he told the young man that "his success was almost assured, since both the word success and your name contain seven letters." The midyear examinations, however, proved to be his doom, and he was compelled to return home. "Well," said his father, "didn't you keep in mind what I told you about the seven letters?"
"I did that, father," answered the boy, "but you must remember that there are also seven letters in failure."—Philadelphia Times.

Money Panic.

"What was the worst money panic you ever saw?" asked one financier of another.
"The worst money panic I ever saw," was the reply, "was when a fifty cent piece rolled under the seat of a street car and seven different women claimed it."—Exchange.

Tyranny.

There are few minds to which tyranny is not delightful. Power is nothing but as it is felt, and the delight of superiority is proportionate to the resistance overcome.—Johnson.

Funny Census Questions.

Germany, like other countries, is taking the census this year, and, if we can trust a Paris contemporary, some of the questions can scarcely come within the category of "pertinent." It may be that the Parisian Journal is merely trying to add to the gaiety of nations by poking a little fun at Germany; but, anyway, here are examples of the questions it says the Germans have to face:
Are you lawfully married or not? When were you married? Have you been divorced? What age was your wife at the time of the marriage? Are you or your wife subject to nervous attacks? If you have children under twelve months state how they are nourished. Are you blind or simply in one eye? Do you use torquantes, spectacles or pince nez? What size boots and shoes does your wife take? Do you drink alcohol?
These questions, if they be given correctly by our contemporary, must recall Artemus Ward's account of how he took the census—for instance: "Have you had the measles. If so, how many?"—London Globe.

Another Good Scheme Gone Wrong.

Manager Gus Hartz was standing near the opera house box office when one of two panhandlers who had entered the lobby approached him, and holding out an addressed and sealed envelope, begged for the price of a postage stamp.
"It's for me mudder, boss," he soliloquized. "Youse wouldn't turn down a gay fer de price er de stamp, would youse?"
"Never," said the manager, deftly grasping the envelope and throwing it through the box office window. "Here, Fred," addressing himself to Treasurer Conn. "Stamp this and have it mailed!"
The velocity of the proceedings fairly took the panhandler's breath away. Then, backing away to where his partner awaited him he whispered, "Nothing doing, ho—the guy's wise."—Cleveland Leader.

A Chance Acquaintance.

Not long ago Marc Klaw was at Monte Carlo. Next to him at one of the tables in the casino sat a little old lady. Looking together and then talking together, they picked up a chance acquaintance. At last they rose together, Marc gallantly conducting her to the door and thence to her automobile. As they passed through the vestibule the orchestra was playing the "Ave Maria" of Gounod. "Isn't it lovely?" said Marc, tears coming to his eyes. "The last time I heard it sung was by Christine Nilsson." The old lady smiled and said, "So long ago?" As Marc turned back into the casino and the auto sped away a friend said, "Do you know who that was?" Marc said he did not. "It was Christine Nilsson," said his friend.—Colonel Waterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

Credit, Yes; Money, No.

James J. Hill does not like to give money to people who know little of business. The widow of a former friend came to him one day. She wanted a small loan with which to open a boarding house.
"Sorry, Mrs. Blank," said busy Mr. Hill, "but I can't let you have any money. Go and start your boarding house."
"But I can't without money, Mr. Hill. I must pay rent and buy furniture and many things."
"Nothing of the kind, Mrs. Blank," said Mr. Hill. "Go and get a good house, get a bill for six months' rent, furnish the house. Send bills to me. I'll pay 'em. Sorry I can't let you have any money. Good day and good luck to you."—New York Tribune.

Saved the Knocking.

The Rev. Aaron B. Ballard, president of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association, was congratulated on his ninetieth birthday on his splendid health.
"I impute my longevity," said Dr. Ballard, "to the fact that I have always treated health as Lincoln's mill horse treated fortune."
"Discussing this millennium, a New Yorker said to Lincoln:
"Well, he wasn't out when fortune knocked at his door."
"Ah, my friend, fortune didn't have to knock in his case," said Lincoln. "He was holding the door open waiting for her."—

His Cheerful Occupation.

William Bowman, a miner and pocket hunter, is preparing for his own burial. He has just completed digging his own grave and has left an order for his tombstone. He has also arranged with an undertaker to care for his body. The grave is roofed over by a corrugated iron building just large enough for the purpose. Although Bowman is seventy-four years of age, he appears in good health and expects to live many years, but he says he wants to be prepared.—Shingle Springs Cor. San Francisco Call.

We Pay For French Art Education.

After inspecting one of the best equipped art schools in France our technical instruction commissioners asked the minister of education the cost of the building and its maintenance. He cheerfully replied that he did not know the cost and did not trouble to inquire. "For," said he, "it is not France, but England and America, that pay for our art schools by buying the beautiful manufactures and designs which the schools have enabled the French people to produce."—London Outlook.

REMEMBERED BY WORKMEN.

Hon. Clarence H. Paul, who recently resigned as master mechanic of the Frank Jones Brewing company was given a surprise on Wednesday evening when he was called to the fire quarters at the Brewery and there met all of the men who worked under him during his long term in the brewery.

Before he was wise to what was on Mr. Morgan S. Dada in behalf of the men presented Mr. Paul with a handsome leather rocking chair and a beautiful rug, as an expression of their good wishes for his future and in appreciation of his kindness in the past.

Clarence was taken completely by surprise and it was some time before he could express himself and thank the men for their good will.

ASKS FOR AN INVESTIGATION

Attorney Emery Charges Navy Surgeons With Incompetence

Attorney Samuel W. Emery, Jr., on Wednesday forwarded to the Navy Department a communication which was both a charge of incompetence on the part of medical officers at the navy yard and a request that his assertions be investigated. In his statement Mr. Emery declares that the life of Frank W. Greenough probably would have been saved if proper treatment were accorded him. He also refers to the inscription "climatic exposure on a cold night while drunk" which was placed upon the box containing the body of the alleged murdered marine, Louis E. Rasmussen, when it was shipped to Wisconsin some weeks ago, and which at the time aroused considerable comment.
"Mr. Greenough, an employee at the navy yard," writes Mr. Emery in part, "was overcome by a stroke of apoplexy while at work in the lower deck of the battleship Maine. His brother, John Greenough, and other workmen who were working beside him, carried him to the upper deck, placed him upon a grating, made a pillow of canvas for his head and covered his body with canvas. During this time Mr. Greenough recovered consciousness.
"A naval surgeon was summoned. He arrived, felt of Mr. Greenough's pulse and remarked in effect, 'He's ably would have lived.'"
"Mr. Greenough then became unconscious. Two hours later he was unconscious upon the deck of the Maine when an assistant naval constructor named Harrington arrived and advised that he be taken to the navy yard infirmary.
"Previous to this Mr. Greenough's brother had asked that his brother be transferred to the hospital in a yard ambulance. This petition was refused as was also the petition that he be allowed to hire a carriage for that purpose in Kittery.
"Mr. Greenough was taken to the infirmary. He lay there for a time but nothing was done for him. Subsequently a yard ambulance was called and the body was transferred to the Cottage hospital in this city. He arrived about 5 o'clock, practically three hours from the time of the stroke. The physician at the hospital bathed his head with cracked ice and used other means to restore life, but he was too far gone.
"If proper care had been given Mr. Greenough upon the arrival of the physician when Mr. Greenough lay upon the deck of the Maine he probably would have lived."

PRESENT THE "TITLE MART"

Graffort Club Theatricals For Benefit of Vacation School

The Title Mart, a play by Winston Churchill, was presented at Association hall on Wednesday evening for the benefit of the vacation school, for the benefit of the vacation school, and it attracted a large and representative gathering. The play was presented by local talent and they were all very good in the parts assigned them.
Mrs. Emily Stevens as Mrs. Blackwell was exceptionally good and Miss Corilla Eggleston as Edith Blackwell was also very clever. Lawrence B. Wright as Reginald Barking was also noticeable and in fact the entire cast deserve credit for their excellent showing.
The play will be presented again this evening. The cast:
The Marquis of Treadbury—A young nobleman in financial straits; Ralph W. Jenkins.
Reginald Barking, M. P.—Son of "Barking China"; Lawrence B. Wright.
Mr. John Blackwell—Railroad President and Captain of Industry; Edwin Kent.
Mr. Lawrence Pepps—Lawyer, man of the world; William H. Sexton.
Roy Clarkson—Reporter on the New York Morning Republic; E. Curtis Matthews, Jr.
Tilden—Valet to Lord Treadbury; E. Curtis Matthews, Jr.
Hiram Peters—Store keeper and sheriff of Carroll County; Walter G. Marston.
Ezra Swazey—His clerk; Alvin Redden.
Butler—Alvin Redden.
Footman—Frank Boom.
Edith Blackwell—A modern, strenuous, American girl, incidentally heiress; Corilla Eggleston.
Mrs. Blackwell—Second wife of Mr. Blackwell, stepmother of Edith; Emily Stavers.
Lady Marjorie Ticknor, Helen Leighton.
Act I—Blanchville in the Adirondacks.
Act II—Loggia of Mr. Blackwell's camp in the Adirondacks.

NAVY YARD

Sale on May 25.
The annual sale of condemned material of which there are many lots will be held on May 25.
Wiremen and Engine Tenders.
Three engine tenders and four wiremen were called by the labor board today. The list for joiners, painters and laborers is without names and there is a constant call for men for this work.
Work for the Boat Shops.
The hull division has been ordered to construct two forty foot steam cutters for general use.
Must Look Boats Over.
Orders have been issued to men in all departments who come to the yard by boat to the effect that in the future the owners of these boats must tie up the same at the yard landings with a chain painter and the same to be secured with a padlock while at the yard floats. The order also requires the cars of every boat to be removed or to be locked to a thwart in the boat.
Putting Out Young Trees.
Chief Boatwain Frank Carragher, with a crew of prisoners from the ships has been engaged in setting out a number of small elm trees about the yard. On the lawn near the main office building twenty have been planted.

May Not Get Newton.
Unofficially it is announced that Captain John T. Newton of the U. S. S. Nebraska will not take command of this yard and station and that some other officer of his rank will be sent here.
Looking Into the Department.
The secretary of the navy has been called upon to furnish information regarding certain conditions in the navy department for the use of the house committee on expenditures in that executive branch. The call for information relates mainly to the clerical force, although it includes names and duties of active and retired officers who have been connected with the various bureaus of the different periods. The evident intention of the house committee is to show by comparison the conditions prevailing in the navy department during the time which embraced the war with Spain and a more recent period.
Ordered Here.
Lieut. Arthur H. Rice, whose engagement to Miss Eleanor Richter of this city was announced Tuesday, was on Wednesday ordered from the Newport training station to this navy yard.

Putting Up Iron Poles.
A dozen or more iron poles are being set up on Scavay's Island to replace the wooden stakes that carry the yard fire alarm, electric light and telephone wires.

When Buying a Heater Ask Yourself

This Question:

What is Nature's method of heating? Nature takes pure air and heats it by the sun's rays. The natural method of heating in winter-time, therefore, would be, to take pure, fresh air from out of doors, warm it to the proper degree, and distribute it properly in your home. That is exactly what the

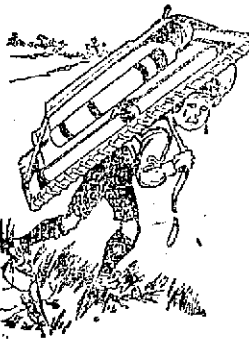

Kelsey Warm Air Generator

Does. We cannot improve on nature. The Kelsey warms enough air to supply good ventilation as well as heat, and that is what we all want in our homes. Let us show you how the Kelsey works, why it gives the most economical and satisfactory results.
